The conference was organized by the Center for Korean Studies of the Institute of Far Eastern Studies (IFES) and held, as scheduled, in Moscow, at the IFES, on March 26-27, 2015.

2. 학술회의 경과 보고(Appraisal): 계획대비 결과 비교, 향후 계획 등
(Outline of Activities. Activities completed, Comparison between Plan and Outcome, Future Plans, etc.)

The conference was attended by more than 90 professors, researchers, scholars, Ph.D. candidates and students from Moscow, St-Petersburg, Vladivostok, Khabarovsk, Yuzhno-Sakhalinsk, Kirov, Minsk(Belorussia), Almaaty (Kazakhstan) Tashkent and Nukus (Uzbekistan).

S.G. Lusianin, acting Director of the IFES and Igor Sagitov, Deputy Director of the 1st Department of Asia of the Ministry for Foreign Affairs of the Russian Federation made opening and welcome remarks.
Announcements and report on the conference's results on the internet can be found at the IFES web-site http://www.ifes-ras.ru, reported by Russian and Republic of Korea news outlets.

The paper presenters were allowed to edit their papers to consider comments during the discussion at the panels. The papers will be edited and published as a collective monograph in a separate volume which will be sent to Russia's Security Council, the Federal Assembly of the Russian Federation (Russia Parliament), MFA of Russia, other governmental agencies, research institutes, major public and specialized libraries, universities where specialists on Korea are being educated.

Because of increased number of applications and participants (86 persons registered, plus guests), the conference organizers had to make a minor relocation of some money to ensure enough food for lunches and coffee breaks, smooth organization and logistic, in particular, reimbursed only part of airfare for paper presenters.

The conference proved to be the most authoritative and representative forum of scholars engaged in Korean Studies in Russia with ever growing participation which this year exceeded 90 persons. This year, like during two previous years, the papers will be organized as a collective monograph. It is to be published this autumn in a separate volume which is expected, as usual, to be of great demand both from scholars and students majoring in Korean studies. The conference's papers provide with the most comprehensive picture of the current situation in Korean Studies in Russia. The conference also presented major directions of research activities in Korean studies in Russia and other CIS countries.

The conference's results are of great help for those who are involved in practical implementation and development of relations between Russia and the ROK and the DPRK. It helped to identify problems and suggest some solutions in a way conducive to peace and unification of Korea, including peaceful settlement of the North Korean nuclear problem. Eurasian initiative by President Park Guen-hae was, in particular, positively evaluated, especially scholars from former Soviet republics of Central Asia. A number of papers gave in-depth analysis of developments of multilateral energy and transportation projects with Russia's participation in Northeast Asia. A lot of attention was devoted to the Republic of Korea's rich experience in innovation and - all fields which are vitally important for Russia's current economic development. Gender and demographic politics of South and North Korea were analyzed and compared.

Among the most encouraging results of the conference can be mentioned ever growing number of applications from young scholars and post-graduate students. The CKS is planning to hold the next 20th Annual Conference of Russia & CIS Koreanists in the last week of March, 2016 at the IFES, Moscow. We hope that the continued support from the AKS will allow us to enlarge the scope of the conference by bringing to Moscow ever more scholars from distant Russian cities and CIS countries.

We attach to this report 5 copies of the conference's program. Two copies of the collective monograph in volume will be sent to AKS immediately after publication before the end of the year. We also attach summary of papers in English and the list of participant and discussants.

Since several persons failed to come because of family and other reasons, we saved some money on honorariums and travel expenses. Small portion of them were added to meals and personnel expenses. We are ready to return them to AKS, but will be very grateful to AKS if it will allow us to use the remaining sum as part of AKS support for the next, 2016 annual conference, which we had already applied for.
